The News of the Week

The end of the British embargo on Canadian cattle is in sight at last. The Royal Commission that held sittings for several weeks during the past summer has made its report, and recommends that the embargo should be lifted.

The estimated increase of 69,000,000 bushels of wheat in Saskatchewan over 1920 is not too bad.

After thirty years, the stigma of disease has been removed from Canadian cattle. It was never applicable, but it took a long time to shake it loose.

At a conference in Toronto today of followers of Premier Meighen, called by Edmund Bristol, M.P., chairman of the central Ontario district, it was announced that dissolution of parliament might be expected before September 27.

Alberta's superior oats are receiving recognition wherever they can be properly placed before the buying public, for there is the following interesting reference to our product in the report of Trade Commissioner H. Council Meeting

Meeting of Council of Manitou Marsden, Sask. on the 12th day of September, 1921.

Present: Reeve Chapman; Councilors Ploymann, Williams, Lawson, Coe, Mitchell and Bradley.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and passed on motion. A letter from Mr. Brown, resident on the N.E. 34-44-27-3 was read in which he requested the council to let him fence in part of the northward-way past his land including a spring as this road is not used it was granted.

Delegation from Leairg school district appeared at the meeting and opposed the changing of the boundaries of the district. After a considerable discussion it was decided by the council to leave the Leairg and Wells districts with their present boundaries.

The following resolution was moved:

"The council having in view the fact of the inconvenience they have been put to in connection with the seed grain loans also the serious blow that the credit of the Municipality received this year by non-payment of them.

Resolved, That notice of seizure be sent to all ratepayers owing for Seed Grain. With the exception of the (new) 1921 loans, for the amount of the loans, interest and costs.

Also that attention be drawn to Sub. Section four (4) of Section fourteen (14) of the Seed Grain Act of 1917 Chapter forty-seven (47).

The Secy. was asked to reply to the following question: The Department of the Interior has laid out the roadway built this year along the north of township 44 ranges 27-28, and a roadway built in division three during 1920. The council consider that on both these pieces of work a better system would have been given to the Municipality build the roadway as they consider that they could have done the work for less money.

Moved that the report re the Maintenance Grant be approved. Carried.

It was resolved as a Red Cross

1840-1857

The act of 1840, which reunited the provinces of Upper and Lower Canada under one government, was the commencement of the Fourth Period of political development which lasted until 1857. The French Canadians looked upon this act at first with suspicion. The fact that the French language was no longer placed on the same footing as English, in official documents and parliamentary proceedings, together with the fact that Upper Canada, had the same representation as Lower Canada in the assembly, despite the lower population of the latter section at the time of union, was considered an injustice to the French Canadians, against which they did not fail to demonstrate for years. But so far from the act of 1840, which united the Canadians, acting unfavorably to the French Canadian people, it eventually gave them a predominant place in the councils of the country. The act of 1857, which gave the French Canadians the control of their own province. French soon became an official language by an amendment of the union act, and the clause providing for equality of representation proved an advantage to French Canada when the upper province exceeded in population the French Canadian section.

The act of 1840 was framed on the principle of giving larger political privileges to the Canadians and was accompanied by instructions to the assembly under Mr. Poulet Thomson, afterwards Lord Sydenham, which laid the foundation of responsible government. It took several years to give full effect to the leading principles of parliamentary government, and it was not until the arrival in 1847 of Lord Elgin, one of the ablest governors-general Canada has ever had, that the people enjoyed in its completeness that system of the responsibility of the cabinet to parliament without which our constitution would be unwelcome.

The Canadian legislature was given full control of taxation, supply and expenditure in accordance with English constitution principles. The clergy reserves difficulty was settled and the lands sold for public or municipal purposes, the interest of existing rector and incumbents being safeguarded.

The great land question of Canada, also, was disposed of by buying out the seigniorial tenure of Lower Canada the claims of the seigniors, and the people of Lower Canada were freed from exactions which had become not so much onerous as vexatious, and were placed on the same free footing as other settlers in the English communities of America.

Municipal institutions of a liberal nature, especially in what is now the province of Ontario, were established and the people of the two provinces were given that control over their local affairs in the counties, townships, cities and parishes, which is so desirable.

W. Ryall and C. M. Kirby, acting as judges had a task of no little difficulty, in fact it took them the major part of the afternoon in order to arrive at their decision.

W. I. Notes

The regular meeting of the Chauvin Women's Institute was held in the Rest Room last Saturday afternoon. At this meeting two new members were enrolled. Business in connection with the recent convention was attended to, and then the main topic of the afternoon 'Household Hints' proved very helpful. This was an exchange of information, carried out in a conversational manner. Later in the afternoon the judges returned from their tour of inspection and judging of the Chauvin gardens and presented their report.

Success has been attained by W. Carroll, of Airlie, decreasing a 1 1/2 number of seedling trees of a number of different varieties. In addition to over two thousand Caraganae of all sizes, W. Fram G. G. A.

The meeting of the Fram G.G.A. had to be postponed at the last minute owing to everyone being so busy, but it is hoped that the business will be taken in hand at the next meeting to be held on Saturday October 1st in the school. The announcement of Premier Meighen that a general election will be held shortly should mean that every member will be in his or her place to hear the latest news of the farmers' intentions in this matter.

The News of the Week

Premier Greenfield has returned from a flying trip to the southern areas of the province tonight a convert to irrigation.

"The great necessity for that country is to get water on the land," he said.

He would not state what recommendations he would make as a result of his trip, but was enthusiastic over what he had seen with respect to irrigation. He also visited the dried-out areas, and will have some recommendations to make soon. He was accompanied by minister of Agriculture George Hoadley and Minister of Municipalities R. G. Reid.

A strong movement is on foot in the Battle River federal constituency to place a man in the field in opposition to the U.F.A. candidate. A federal government headed by Mr. Crerar, president of the United Grain Growers' Trust, is apparently not popular with the farmers of this district. The Provincial Farmers government having failed to acknowledge the right of the French candidate in the cabinet will result in a strong feeling against the U.F.A. in the political party.—Edmonton Bulletin.

"There cannot be any arrangement between Labor and the U. F. A. in the Dominion, so far as Alberta as a whole is concerned. It is not even possible in this province, independent riding makes its own agreement. Every political organization in the provincial and Dominion ridings has absolute autonomy. No Dominion or provincial body has any right to make any arrangements for them. It is not possible for such an agreement to be reached by a few leaders."—H. Higginbotham.

Cost Of Living Increased Last Month

The average price of the weekly budget for a family of five in sixty Canadian cities rose to $11.41 at the beginning of August, as compared with $10.96 at the beginning of July, according to figures compiled by the department of labor.

The continued downward movement which began in May, 1920, has slowed up very considerably and there is a disposition to consider that the liquidation in prices has been to a great extent accomplished and that with good crops, improved transportation facilities and better financial conditions, there may be better demand in markets which have been weak for over a year.

Still Long Way to Drop

The retail weekly budget has still a long way to drop before it reaches the figure of seven years ago, which was $7.68 as compared with $11.41 today. The high point was reached in August, 1920, when the same 29 commodities sufficient for the average family were costing $16.42.

Wholesale Prices

In wholesale prices the departmental index number for August showed little change at 238.4 as compared with 238.6 for July; 332.2 for August, 1920; 301.1 for August, 1919, 284. for August, 1918, and 136.3 for August 1914.

Canadian Chilled Beef Pleased The English Butchers

Toronto Shipment Sold 10 Per Cent Over Argentine Best
Chilled Beef

WOULD BUY REGULARLY
IF SUPPLY AVAILABLE

Canadian chilled beef which was shipped to the English markets recently was very favorably commented on by the trade and in view of the interest which is being aroused through the activities of the special committee appointed by the U.F.A., the following extracts from a report from Canadian Trade Commissioner Watson, appearing in the Trade and Commerce Bulletin are especially valuable:

He says the shipment of about 1,000 quarters of Ontario beef, slaughtered at Toronto, July 14, by the Harris Abattoir company, and despatched immediately to Montreal to catch the steamer Megantic, and landed in Liverpool on July 24, a 10-day trip. The beef was transported throughout at a temperature which did not fall below freezing point, the condition was practically that of fresh killed beef, and arrived in excellent condition.

The disposition of the shipment was handled by a firm operating extensively in all kinds, and the member of the firm in charge of the shipment above gives the following report:

"Following our chat last week I can now give you some account of the chilled beef per Megantic from Canada. The shipment consisted of about 1,000 quarters of prime corned steers and arrived in Liverpool in first rate condition being perfectly chilled but without any trace of frost. This ensures it cutting up without dripping which frozen meat always does after thawing.

"A relatively small quantity was marketed in Liverpool and Manchester but the bulk was railed to London. The weather was extremely hot and the journey detracted considerably from the appearance of the beef on arrival. In spite of this it sold readily at about 10 per cent more than the best Argentine chilled beef.

"The best feature is the fact that all the butchers who purchased the beef were delighted with it and will buy it regularly if the supply is available. I am of opinion that if the beef were shipped direct to London and the trade could rely on a regular weekly supply that prices would be obtained approximating more nearly to English-killed beef than at present."

Fur Sales

Canadian mink, marten, and fisher with similar furs were the feature of the opening sales at Montreal September 12th, when buyers were present from New York, London, Paris and other centres. Typically Canadian furs ran as high as 40 per cent above prices at the March sales.

Grain Rates Drop

Railways Cut Three Cents For 100 Off Fort William to
Ports Carrier Tolls

Announcement was made September 15th at Montreal by the Railway Association of a further reduction in the rate on grain and grain products from Fort William for export via Atlantic ports. The reduction amounts to seven cents per 100, and is in addition to the three cents per 100 pounds given earlier in the year and the five per cent. reduction in January.

One-third of the shipping passing through the Panama canal is British.

If you hold a handful of truths be careful how you open it.

Cattle Shipments

This season 18,000 head of cattle have been shipped overseas from Montreal. This figure clearly shows how the cattle trade is getting back to pre-war levels, and officials are unanimous in their opinion that the outlook is exceedingly bright. In 1912 32,000 were sent overseas from this port.

Some of the early lieutenant-governors were for years in constant conflict with the assembly, and during one administration the island was practically without representative government for ten years.

The political situation was made much worse by the fatal mistake committed at the very commencement of its history, of granting all the public lands in fact the whole island to a few absentee proprietors, and it was not until the admission of the province into the confederation that this burning question was satisfactorily settled by the purchase of the claims of the landowners. Responsible government was not actually established until 1850-51, when the assembly obtained full control, like the other provinces, of its public revenues, and was allowed to manage its local affairs,

NEWFOUNDLAND

The great island of Newfoundland, which stands at the very gateway of the Dominion of Canada, was claimed as a possession of England by virtue of the discoveries of John Cabot in 1497, and of Sir Humphrey Gilbert in 1583, the latter having received permission to assert English jurisdiction over the island.

For very many years the island was only a resort for fishermen of all nations and the scene of conflicts between France and England. In 1713 the island was finally ceded to England to form settlements around its shores.

Until 1832 the system of government was most arbitrary, and a few wealthy merchants in England and their agents in the colony practically controlled affairs. In that year representative institutions were given to the people. The government consisted of a lieutenant-governor assisted by an appointed council, with both legislative and executive functions, and a responsible assembly.

The responsible government was conceded. The government is in the hands of a lieutenant-governor appointed by the king; of an executive or advisory council of nine ministers; of a legislative council of fifteen members, appointed by the governor on the advice of the executive council, of an assembly of thirty-six members, elected by ballot every four years, there being manhood suffrage. (that is, every man having a vote).

France, by virtue of the Treaty of Utrecht (1713), of Paris (1763), of Versailles (1783), and of Paris again (1815), enjoyed certain fishery rights on a wide extent of the western and north-easterly coast, which prevented immigration and created difficulties but by the Anglo-French convention of 1904 France renounced these rights retaining only the right to fish and obtain bait in the territorial waters of Newfoundland on the coast between Cape St John and Cape Ray passing by the north, Great Britain compensating France by concessions of territory in Africa.

NOVA SCOTIA

1713-1758. A Governor and Council.

1758. A Governor, an appointed Council with executive and legislative powers, and an Assembly elected by the people.

1838. Executive and legislative powers separated and two Councils formed.

1848. Responsible government. Executive Council became responsible to the House of Assembly.

1867. Confederation. The province became part of the Dominion of Canada with representation in the Senate and House of Commons, and a Provincial government consisting of a Lieutenant-Governor appointed by the Governor-General of Canada on the advice of his Cabinet, and Executive Council responsible to the House of Assembly, a Legislative Council consisting of members appointed for life by the Lieutenant-Governor on the advice of the Executive Council and an elected House of Assembly.

NEW BRUNSWICK

1784. New Brunswick made a separate province with the same constitution as Nova Scotia.

1822. Same division of Council as occurred in 1838 in Nova Scotia.

1848. Responsible government.

Threshing Rates In Wainwright District

The following extract from a recent issue of the Wainwright Star has been handed into this office, with a request that we publish the same—Editor.

On Saturday last after a meeting of a number of the farmers of the district it was decided to appoint a common's Association with the object of getting an equitable figure for this work.

Messrs G. M. Sargeant and T. A. Patterson were the appointees of the farmers and Messrs J. G. Lewis and J. E. Hedlund acted for the machine men and these four gentlemen appointed Mr. S. R. Bowerman as arbitrator, and after weighing the proposition from all angles it was agreed that the following prices for threshing should rule for this season—

|--------|------------------|----------|
| Wheat | per bushel | 11 cents |
| Barley | per bushel | 9 cents |
| Oats | per bushel | 6 cents |
| Rye | per bushel | 16 cents |

—Wainwright Star.

Exchange Rates

In accordance with the judgement of the board of railway commissioners issued January 14, 1921, the rate of exchange in connection with shipments of freight between points in Canada and the United States from September 15 to 30 inclusive will be 11 31-32 per cent. The surcharge on international freight shipments will be seven per cent.; and the rate of surbusiness will be based on 12 per cent. exchange.

Saskatchewan Govt. To Aid Exhibitors

As a further encouragement to Saskatchewan exhibitors who are preparing exhibits for the International Live Stock Exposition and Grain Show, the provincial government is making provision for the payment of a substantial sum as an honorarium to all Saskatchewan exhibitors who win a championship next fall. The government has already made arrangements to pay the cost of transporting the exhibits to and from Chicago. The sum of $500 will be paid the Saskatchewan exhibitor who wins a grand championship prize for either live stock or grain, and $300 for exhibitors winning reserve grand championships for live stock or grain. Saskatchewan has a magnificent record in the brief period that exhibitors from that province have been contesting at these international exhibitions, the province having the honor of winning the world's championship for the best wheat eight times in the past nine years, and Saskatchewan Clydesdale breeders swept the boards last year at Chicago, with exhibitors of other breeds making a splendid showing; the shipment of 27 animals sent from Saskatchewan to the Chicago International last year winning 86 prize and championships and four special prizes, including the grand champion Clydesdale stallion of the show, reserve grand champion Clydesdale mare, the grade Shorthorn steers of the show, besides a very satisfactory list of winnings for cereals in addition to the world's prize for the best spring wheat.

Pleasant Evening Spent At Ribstone

A unique banquet was held in the Ribstone cafe, Monday, September 12th, commencing at 9.30 p.m., to 12.30 a.m., by the boys in overalls, in honor of the first of its kind. A very enjoyable evening was spent by those who attended notwithstanding unfavorable weather conditions.

The banquet having been opened with L. A. Munroe, Edmonton, acting as emcee, who gave an appropriate address which was received with applause. George Burton rose to the occasion by rendering a song entitled "Don't". It was received with much merriment, and laughter, the boys showed their appreciation by continuing the encore and he again rose to the occasion by reciting "My Fair Lady". Norman Wilde sang "How Dear to my Heart" in his usual comic manner which was enjoyed very much, including several selections. Mr. Eddie Russell proved his popularity by singing his famous song "Rites from the Great Town" on responding to the cheers he recited "The Tramp". W. Fox, of Vancouver, sang some comic songs which caused so much laughter that he was heartily encouraged to which he replied by rendering several snappy songs. Frank Clifford, our local comedian sang "The Gravel Bear" and other comic songs and was accorded hearty applause.

Then several interesting wrestling matches were staged, the most interesting being that of our Local Champion, W. Fox, of Vancouver. Our local Champ got a halt-Nelson hold on his opponent who after much exertion broke and gaining a rammerlock and toothed pinned our "local" to the mat. After the entertainment a very pleasant repast was enjoyed which was followed with chocolate and cigars.

The banquet concluded by riding the bucking man, and the singing of "God save the King."

Wool Market Stronger

Reports of new orders received by Canadian mills and generally greater activity in textile manufacturing give a more cheerful tone to the Canadian wool market situation. Orders are being placed steadily, although buyers are operating cautiously. Prices have remained steady and according to the Bradford reports, are almost the same as the British prices for similar wools. Favorable reports have been received from Bradford of samples of Canadian wool shown there by Geo. E. Bryan, manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Ltd., during his recent trip to England.

W. L. A. Notes

The Westminster Ladies Auxiliary purpose holding sewing meetings every Saturday evening for the purpose of making garments etc. for the sale of work which is to be held in December. The meeting next Saturday will be held at the home of Mrs. McKee at 8 o'clock.

The W.A. of Westminster church purpose holding a bazaar early in December. This is an annual affair but this year the ladies have decided to enlarge it and hold it on a more ambitious scale.

There will be a number of booths plain work; fancy work; candy; home cooking and a number of others. Aprons, so necessary to the house wife, are considered worthy a separate stall. The men are not overlooked but will find at the "Mens Publishing" just the gift they are looking for.

Will you please then each make at least one article. You may leave the articles with Mrs. McNutt, the president, and she will see that they reach the hands those in charge of the different booths.

Local Notes Of Interest

The weather during the past week has been distinctly discouraging to us all, just as soon as the streaks are dry down comes another heavy downpour of rain. It was a thoroughgoing down-pour at that, for not content with soaking our own shavers it performed the same trick throughout the whole of Saskatchewan and the major portions of Manitoba and Alberta.

For hunting acres whilst not being in possession of license, Messrs J. A. Code and D. W. Parcells were each fined $25.00 and costs.

For using abusive and threatening language to F. Palmer, J. Goodall was fined $15.00 and costs.

Owing to the lack of a quorum the meeting of the M. D. of Ribstone council was not held last week.

The degree of LL.B. has been conferred upon Mr. T. H. Saul, of Chauvin. Congratulations, fellow-citizen.

Despite the stormy Mr. A. Herbert picked a plant or strawberries off his plants yesterday (Tuesday). The plants are of the ever-bearing variety.

Owing to the busy harvest season, accentuated by the delays caused by the inclemency of the weather there is but very little activity in the U.F.A circles these days.

An effort is being made to arrange for a united Sunday School Rally service by the Brady and the Chauvin Sunday schools sometime during October.

Mr. W. Ellis, and son William, are visitors to Edmonton this week.

The local ladies are finding the meeting of the Chauvin Women's Institute very enjoyable and profitable.

Ribstone L. A. Notes

The Ribstone Ladies are to celebrate their anniversary on Friday October 21st by holding a Bazaar and serving Fowl Supper in the Municipal Hall. A number of tables will be placed around the Hall and all kinds of articles will be displayed in an elegant and tasteful fashion that will appeal to the taste, eye and feeling, and that will tempt the visitors to purchase some article for themselves or for presentation to some friend.

Candy, cake, useful and fancy articles or all kinds will be shown. Donations from town and country friends of articles for bazaar or contributions of eatables towards supper will be gratefully accepted.

By helping in this you will help the Ladies Aid in their effort to raise funds for the building of a much needed church.

Chauvin Rifle Club

The meeting called for last Saturday evening by President Cubitt, was not held owing to absence of members. This lack of interest by the members is causing considerable loss because work needed at the range cannot be proceeded with, and the government grant therefor is liable to be lost.

It is due to the energy of President Cubitt that there has been so much work already accomplished at the range, making it possible for members to enjoy, as they have done, several good shoots, and it will be too bad if the work is not finished this season in good shape. There is still quite a long season for shooting, and also a government grant of $50 to be earned, or lost.

When Impounding Leave Statement: Saskatchewan Law

Macroe Justice Settles Point
Between Farmers; Counter
Complaint Upheld

A case involving several legal points of great interest to farmers was heard before Christopher Sutton, J.P., at Macroe last week. According to the evidence, L. A. Dunning found three colts in his haystack, and sent his son to put them in the pound. The law states that "It shall be the duty of the person impounding to leave with the pound-keeper a written statement giving a description of the animals, where they were captured, the damage done by them, and the fees charged for capture and delivery at the pound. No statement of this kind was left with the poundkeeper.

O. P. Fredson, who was responsible for the colts, believing that the colts had been taken out of his pasture, had a notice prepared, of his intention to apply to a justice of the peace on account of the illegal impounding of the horses. This was left with the poundkeeper and the complaint laid.

The justice held that the impounding was illegal because no written statement was left by the captor with the poundkeeper, and an order was made that the poundkeeper should return the money which Mr. Fredson had paid, and that L. A. Dunning should pay all costs of the proceedings, $14.40; and all fees to which the poundkeeper was entitled, $5, and in default, the amount to be levied by distress and sale of his goods. The justice also explained that any person illegally impounding any animal is also liable on conviction to be fined up to $100 as well as being ordered to pay all costs of the proceedings and pound fees. H. M. Nelson, Esq., barrister, represented Fredson, and W. H. Holm, Esq., barrister appeared for Dunning.

officers, clerks, and other employees of the government, is termed 'civil' because their work is connected with the civil work of the government as distinguished from the military or naval services, which necessarily plays so important a part in the administration of government, was placed on a permanent basis.

The legislative union did not work until the political conditions of Canada again demanded another radical and political development of the change in keeping with the material country, and capable of removing the difficulties that had arisen in the operation of the act of 1840—equal to its population increased by the great immigration which naturally sought and fertile province—were steadily rising by the French Canadians as an undue interference with the security granted to them under the act.

This resistance gave rise to great irritation in Upper Canada where a powerful party made representation by population their plea, a stable government at last became practically impossible on account of the opposing parties in the Assembly being so nearly equal in numbers. The time had come for the accomplishment of the great change foreshadowed by Lord Durham, Chief Justice Sewell of Quebec, Mr Howe of Nova Scotia, Sir Alexander Gait of Canada, and other public men—the union of the provinces of British North America. But before I proceed to refer to the results of the convention of British American Statesmen that met at Quebec in 1864, and framed a system of federal union, it is necessary that I should refer to the progress of popular government in the maritime provinces so that this historical sketch may be made complete up to 1857.

PROVINCE OF CANADA

1680—1760. French rule: First of all by a Governor, subject only to orders of Kings of France.

After 1663 by a Governor and Intendant, Intendant and Bishop with seven, then seven, and eventually twelve councillors.

1760—1763. English military rule by the officers commanding the troops.

1763—1774. (Under the Royal Proclamation of 1763) by a Governor-General and a Council appointed by the Crown.

1774—1791. (Under the Quebec Act) by a Governor-General and a Legislative Council appointed by the Crown.

1791—1838. (Under the Constitution Act) the province divided into Upper and Lower Canada, with a Governor-General at Quebec and a Lieutenant-Governor in Upper Canada, and in each an Executive Council and a Legislative Council appointed by the Governor, and a House of Assembly elected by the people.

1838—1840. Government by Governor-General and Council in consequence of the rebellion of 1837

1840—1867. (Under the Union Act) The two Canadas joined again as the Province of Canada and responsible government introduced, government being made by a Governor-General, an Executive Council responsible to the Assembly, a Legislative Council, first appointed by the Governor upon the advice of the Executive Council and in 1856 made elective, the members previously appointed for life continuing to hold their seats, and by a House of Assembly elected by the people.

1867. Confederation (under the British North America Act, 1867. The province was divided into two and became part of the Dominion of Canada under the names of the Province of Quebec and the Province of Ontario, their respective boundaries being similar to those of the old provinces of Upper and Lower Canada, the government consisting of—

(1) The Federal Government—A Governor-General, appointed by the Sovereign, a Cabinet responsible to the House of Commons, a Senate appointed by the Governor-General upon the advice of the Cabinet, and a House of Commons elected by the people.

(2) The Provincial Governments—A Lieutenant Governor, appointed by the Governor-General on the advice of his Cabinet, an Executive Council responsible to the House of Assembly, and a House of Assembly elected by the people. Quebec and Nova Scotia also have Legislative Councils consisting of members appointed for life, appointed by the Lieutenant Governor on the advice of the Executive Council. Manitoba, in 1876. New Brunswick, in 1881 and Prince Edward Island in 1892, abolished the Legislative Councils which they had had previous to those dates.

CHAPTER V.

MARITIME PROVINCES

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island were formerly portions of the French domain in America. John Cabot, a Venetian in the employ of Henry VII. of England, appears to have discovered Cape Breton and Nova Scotia in 1497 and 1498, but the French were the first to make a settlement in 1603 on the banks of the Annapolis Basin. Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and a considerable part of Maine were in the days of French rule known as Acadie, an Indian name. (Acade means a place and was always used in connection with another Indian word showing some feature of the locality. Thus Annapolis is White Place or Point).

The present maritime provinces became the possession of England by the treaties of Utrecht (1713) and of Paris (1763). None of these provinces were given constitutions by the parliament of Great Britain, as was the case with old Canada; but they enjoyed as complete a system of self-government as that large province. Their constitutions must be sought in the commissions of the Lieutenant governors, despatches of the colonial secretary of state, imperial statutes, and various official documents, which built up in the course of time a legislative system and responsible government.

NOVA SCOTIA

In Nova Scotia, from 1713 to 1757, the provincial government consisted of a governor or lieutenant-governor and a council possessing both legislative and executive powers. A legislative assembly sat for the first time at Halifax on the 2nd October, 1758, or thirty-four years before representative assemblies met at Newark (now Niagara), the capital of Upper Canada for several years, and at Quebec, the capital of Lower Canada.

NEW BRUNSWICK

New Brunswick, founded by Loyalists, was separated from Nova Scotia and created a distinct province in 1784. Its first government consisted of a lieutenant-governor, and a council having both legislative and executive functions, and an assembly elected by the people.

At the time of the outbreaks in Upper and Lower Canada, 1837-8, there was still a considerable amount of dissatisfaction in the maritime provinces, arising from the existence in each province of an irresponsible council exercising executive, legislative, and even judicial powers, the constant interference of the imperial government in purely local matters, and the abuse of the powers of the representative and executive bodies; but if there was in these sections the serious discontent and less obstruction to the regular course of government, it was because there was a nearer approach to sound constitutional practice.

In New Brunswick especially, the political controversies that had been extremely bitter between the executive and legislative authorities were, to a great extent, ended by the grant of the control of all the revenues to the assembly. Before 1840 the legislative councils in the two provinces were no longer allowed to exercise both executive and judicial functions. By 1848 responsible government was fully established.

CAPE BRETON ISLAND

The island of Cape Breton, known as Isle Royale in the French Canadian history, was not added to England until 1784. It was under the government of Nova Scotia from 1783 to 1784, when it was given a separate government consisting of a lieutenant-governor and council having a very limited legislative as well as executive functions. This constitution remained in force until the re-annexation of the island in 1820 to Nova Scotia of which it still forms a part.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

The island of Prince Edward, formerly known as St John, formed a part of Nova Scotia until 1769, when it was created a separate province with a government consisting of a lieutenant-governor and a combined executive and legislative council.

In 1773 an assembly was elected. (Continued on page seven)

each of the other provinces; of an executive or advisory council, appointed by the governor-general or lieutenant-governor, and dependent upon the support of the majority in the elected assembly; of a legislative council, appointed by the governor, with the advice of his council. In Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, but elected in Canada and Prince Edward Island and of an assembly, elected by the people.

A look back over the century that has passed between the treaty of 1763, which ceded Canada to England, and 1763, and the Quebec convention of 1864, we can see that the struggle of the statesmen and people of British North America had won from England for all the provinces the accession of the following principles which lie at the foundation of our whole political structure:—

1. The establishment at an early period of Canadian history, of the principle of religious toleration and equality of all religious denominations.
2. The guarantees given to the French Canadians for the preservation of their religion, law and language.
3. The adoption of the English criminal law in the French as well as the English provinces.
4. The establishment of representative institutions in every province.

5. The independence of the judiciary and its complete isolation from political influences and conflicts.

6. Complete provincial control over all local revenues and expenditures through the elected assembly.

7. The right of legislatures to manage their purely local affairs without imperial interference.

8. The establishment of municipal institutions, and the consequent increase of public spirit in all parts of the old provinces of Upper and Lower Canada.

9. The adoption of the English principle of responsibility to the legislative assembly, under which a ministry or executive council can only hold office while its members have seats in the legislature and possess the confidence of a majority of the people's elected representatives.

FEDERAL UNION 1867

Having had many years experience of local self-government, having shown their ability to govern themselves, having recognized the necessity for a union which would give them greater strength within the Empire, and afford larger facilities for commercial relations between each other, and with the rest of the world, the governments of the several provinces, whose constitutional history we have briefly reviewed, united with the leaders of the opposition in the different legislative bodies, with the object of carrying out this great measure.

A convention of thirty-three representative men was held in the autumn of 1864 in the historic city of Quebec and after a deliberation of several weeks the result was the unanimous adoption of seventy-two resolutions embodying the terms on which the provinces through their delegates agreed to a federal union. These resolutions had to be paid before the various legislatures and adopted in the shape of addresses to the Queen, so that the wishes of the provinces might be embodied in an imperial statute.

In the earlier part of 1867 the imperial parliament passed the statute known as the "British North America Act, 1867," which united in the first instance the province of Canada, (divided by the Act into the provinces of Ontario and Quebec) with Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and made provision for the coming in of the other provinces of Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, and British Columbia, and the admission of Rupert's Land and the great Northwest.

Newfoundland has always refused to join the union. Prince Edward Island joined in 1873.

The Fluctuating Dollar

At present, a dollar is worth only about 50c to spend; but it is worth $1.10 to save. Because, dollars deposited in a Savings Account will steadily increase in buying power as the world gets on its feet again and the supply of commodities grows equal to the demand. Buy only what you cannot do without. Put your dollars away in a Savings Account until their buying power becomes more equalized.
